

EARTH - Fractured, Exposed & Extinct

A Poem by Kerry Anne Boer 2016

*Oh you giant scaled & egg bound thing,
I wonder how you did expire.*

*In years now gone were you not earthly Kings?
Was your power quest an all-consuming desire?*

*Did your mother from the nest you fling?
Or was she long gone flying ever higher?*

*From majestic timbers, forest birds sadly no longer sing!
A result of human greed, destruction & fire!*

*What message could your decayed state now bring?
Should we take heed before we too expire?*
